

Classic Sports Sunday Meets in Palm Beach

January 22, 2012

The exceptional week of the 21th Cavallino Classic in January 2012 will be crowned by its exclusive Sunday program Classic Sports Sunday for its 11th year at Mar-a-Lago, the legendary Marjorie Merriweather Post mansion in Palm Beach.

Classic Sports Sunday has been expanded in the last several years to include extraordinary pre- and post-war classic sporting automobiles. The setting will be superb as always, with the historic and restored mansion and the pristine grounds adding to the tropical splendor.

120 classic sporting automobiles will be presented on the lawn. There will be over sixty Ferraris of all types and years, and among the other marques invited will be the finest examples of American, Italian, French, British and German classics.

During the morning, refreshments will be served as participants and guests vote for their favorite automobiles. A jury of international experts will also judge the examples by class. All the Awards will be presented at the charity brunch at noon in the exquisite setting of the Mar-a-Lago ballroom. The Major Awards, the Palm Beach Cups, will be voted on by the participants and guests. The Class Awards, representing Best in Class and Excellence in Class, will be voted on by the distinguished Jury.

Benefiting from this Classic Sports Sunday will be our traditional charities, the American Council of the Blind Scholarship Fund and the Dreyfoos School of the Arts.

Limited to 700 Guests.

Join us and help us to continue this fine tradition. For more information on this incomparable event, please www.cavallino.com

“The greatest cars, the finest people, the most beautiful of settings, the best time of year – The Cavallino Classic!”